

The Paradise Creek Song

(Sung to the tune from "This Land is Your Land")

This creek is your creek, this creek is my creek.
We call it Paradise, its long life we seek.
We are its stewards, it is our future.
This creek is part of you and me.

As I was walking along the wetland,
I smiled at Plovers and waved at Egrets.
I stepped 'round Saltgrass and other plant life,
They all depend on you and me.

This salty water is fed by high tides.
It sustains Horn Snails that crawl on creek sides.
It feeds the fishes and all the tadpoles.
We want it to be pollution free.

This creek is your creek, this creek is my creek.
We call it Paradise, its long life we seek.
We are its stewards, it is our future.
This creek is part of you and me.

Adapted by David Avalos, Margaret Godshalk, and Stephanie Buttell-Maxin